

“Other immigrant groups came to America with language and economic handicaps, but not with the stigma of color. Above all, no other ethnic group has been a slave on American soil, and no other group has had its family structure deliberately torn apart. This is the rub.”

Where Do We Go From Here: Chaos or Community? (1967) [New York: Harper]